March Commentary

Your Fund returned +2.3% during the month compared to +3.4% for the MSCI World Index (NR) GBP. For the first quarter of 2024, the Fund returned +6.7% which compares to the global index +9.9%.

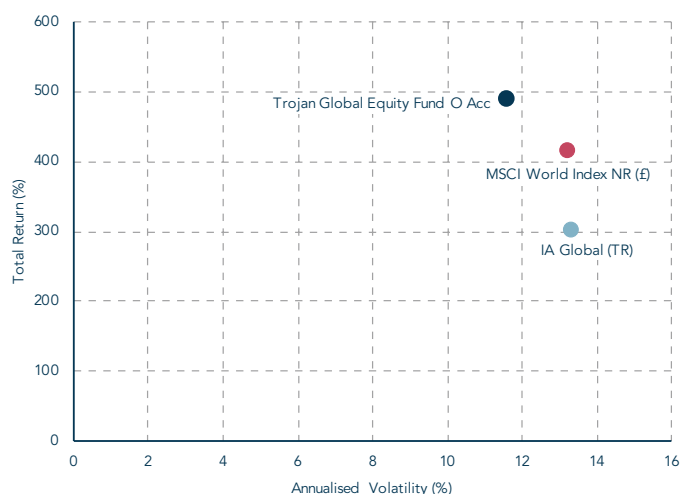

Despite so much talk recently about the growing concentration of stock markets, particularly in the US, the broadening out of returns is a defining feature of markets so far this year. The ongoing resilience of the economy has supported corporate profits and investor sentiment, a dynamic that favours several more cyclical or interest-rate sensitive sectors – e.g. energy, materials and banks in March, and semiconductors, retailers, and industrials in the quarter. The Fund has partially benefitted from these trends, with strong returns from payments companies, for instance. Its investments in consumer internet companies have also captured some of the excitement about the potential for generative AI. But the strategy has lagged in recent months because of its heavy emphasis on structural growth from less economically sensitive companies that have clear and durable competitive advantages.

The top five contributors to the Fund's returns in the quarter were Meta Platforms ('Meta'), Fiserv, Mastercard, Microsoft and Alphabet. The bottom five contributors were Roche, Adobe, Heineken, Take-Two Interactive Software and L'Oréal. The individual performances of Meta, Roche and Heineken were reviewed in last month's factsheet (see here).

There were no new investments or exits in the quarter. Trading activity in existing holdings reflected our attention paid to valuations with additions to areas where we continue to see significant valuation anomalies – e.g. Alphabet, Diageo and LSEG – and reductions where valuations are richer – e.g. American Express and Experian. Through this process the valuation of the Fund (on a cash-flow yield basis) remains broadly equivalent to that of the wider market, despite the Fund's far better financial productivity and prospects for consistent growth. This gives us confidence that the inefficiency that underpins the strategy – that which misprices higher quality companies – is alive and well.
