February Commentary

Your Fund produced a return of +2.7% during the month, compared to +2.3% for the FTSE All-Share Index (TR).

Despite the unyielding political fog, the UK market has found some support since the beginning of the year, with many domestically-focussed stocks ramping up double-digit share price returns in the year to date. Having already risen with this tide, Dairy Crest, the maker of Cathedral City cheddar, advanced another +30% in February on the news it had accepted a 620p per share cash offer from Canadian dairy giant Saputo (a 27% premium to the thirty-day average price).

Dairy Crest has been held in the Fund since launch and more broadly in our income mandates since 2010, and for all that time has been under the stewardship of the same CEO. The company has never been a huge holding, reflecting its small market capitalisation and that its margins are influenced by volatile dairy prices. However, a shrewd management team have demonstrated a consistent ability to manage margins through the dairy cycle.

Management have always taken a long-term view, something that resonated with us. They invested heavily in building a state of the art creamery, and consequently have the highest margins amongst their peers, meaning they could continue to invest at a level above the competition. With investment they have driven innovation, exploiting the by-products of dairy production to make ingredients for the infant milk formula market.

Hefty capital expenditure and dairy price volatility have not led to a smooth ride for the share price in recent periods. However, we remained confident that the market was undervaluing the long-term potential of the company's assets and have ultimately been proved correct. The challenge of finding a new home for the proceeds of the deal is one that is a welcome one and has been made easier by recent market volatility.

Ethical Investment Criteria

Trojan Ethical Income Fund will invest based on specific ethical investment criteria as well as adhering to Troy's fundamental stock selection process. For inclusion in the Fund's investible universe, potential investments will be screened against ethical investment criteria using a combination of third party data and the Investment Manager's primary research. The present ethical investment criteria mean that the Fund will not invest in any organisation which:
