November Commentary

Your Fund returned +6.2% during the month compared to +9.2 % for the MSCI World Index (NR) GBP.

We pursue a distinctive approach by investing in a concentrated portfolio of high-quality companies, with reference to the calibre of the businesses as opposed to a benchmark. We then allow these businesses to compound capital and income over the long term, in an uninterrupted way, by having low turnover.

Inevitably, occasionally, those areas we favour will do poorly relative to those we eschew. Recent months have been one of those times and accounts, in part, for the recent lacklustre relative performance. This is not the first time this has happened and nor will it be the last. It does not alter our conviction that the real money is made in the long-term compounding of a high-quality, settled portfolio and not in the continuous buying and selling of shares notwithstanding recent results.

ADP has just entered our Top 10 holdings. We spoke about the company in June, shortly after we initiated our investment. Since then, the shares have performed remarkably well as worries over the short-term outlook dissipated and ADP proved, once again, the resiliency of its business model.

Our initial purchase took advantage of those short-term concerns, but our long-term conviction is grounded in ADP's bright prospects. After years of investment, the company is about to reap the benefits of the newly launched cloud-native solutions. We believe growth will remain robust and possibly accelerate, while profit margins will continue to improve.

The shares continue to offer a good dividend yield of 2.1%, which we expect to grow at a healthy rate over the next decade.
