THE COMPANY

Investment Policy & Strategy

The Company is an investment trust with the ability to invest globally. Its investment policy is to protect and increase (in that order) the value of shareholders' funds per share over the long term.

While the Company uses the FTSE All-Share Index (the "Index") as its comparator for the purpose of monitoring performance and risk, the composition of the Index has no influence on investment decisions or the construction of the portfolio. As a result, the Company's investment performance is likely to diverge from that of the Index. The Company's definition of "risk" is fundamentally different from that commonly used by other global growth investment trusts and the industry at large (the Company's definition being "risk of losing money" rather than "volatility of returns relative to an index").

Taking this as the Company's definition of risk, the Board will usually, although not invariably, prefer the Company's portfolio as a whole to have a lower level of risk than the Index.

The Company will invest in equities and fixed income securities and it may also hold cash and cash equivalents (which may, depending on circumstances, include gold). The Company may use derivatives as a way of increasing or reducing its investment exposure and to enhance and protect investment positions. The Company may also from time to time make use of currency hedging.

The Company has no predetermined maximum or minimum levels of exposure to asset classes, currencies or geographic areas but these exposures are reported to, and monitored by, the Board in order to ensure that adequate diversification is achieved. The Company's equity portfolio is typically concentrated in a short list of stocks and turnover tends to be low. No holding in an individual company will represent more than 10 per cent. by value of the Company's Total Assets at the time of acquisition.

The Company is prepared to make use of both gearing and liquidity, the former by using short term borrowed funds or derivatives such as FTSE 100 Futures. The Company's gearing will not exceed 50 per cent. of shareholders' funds in aggregate. In exceptional circumstances, the Company's liquidity could be as high as 100 per cent. of shareholders' funds. These limits would not be exceeded without shareholder approval.

The Company may also invest in other investment trusts, especially as a way of gaining exposure to a region or industry in which the Company preferred not to invest directly. The Company's policy is not to invest more than 15 per cent. of its gross assets in other investment trusts and other listed investment companies.

The Company is managed in compliance with the statutory investment restrictions included in sections 1158-59 of the Corporation Tax Act 2010 ensuring that the Company continues to qualify as an investment trust.

Leverage

Circumstances in which leverage may be used

With the objective of enhancing capital returns to shareholders, the Directors of the Company will consider the use of short term borrowed funds or derivatives such as FTSE 100 Futures up to a limit of 50 per cent. of shareholders' funds.

Types and sources of leverage permitted and risks

Leverage may be used in the form of short term borrowed funds or derivatives such as FTSE 100 Futures up to 50 per cent of the net assets of the Company.

The company may also hedge the currency exposure of the portfolio.

Some of the financial instruments held by the Company are interest bearing. As such, the Company is exposed to interest rate risk resulting from fluctuations in the prevailing market rate.

The possible effects on fair value and cash flows that could arise as a result of changes in interest rates are taken into account when making investment and borrowing decisions.

The maximum amount of leverage which the AIFM is entitled to employ on behalf of the AIF

As mentioned above, the Company is permitted to engage, to a limited extent, in leverage through the use of techniques permitted for the purposes of hedging the currency exposure of the portfolio. The maximum potential exposure created by such techniques and/or created through borrowing, shall not exceed 200 per cent under the gross method and 200 per cent under the commitment method of calculation set out in the AIFMD.

This maximum level has been set by the AIFM in consultation with the Board, in accordance with the AIFMD. In accordance with the management agreement, any changes to these limits will be agreed in advance between the AIFM and the Company.

The commitment leverage methodology allows for offsets of hedging transactions and other risk mitigation strategies involving derivatives, such as hedging and duration management. On the contrary, the gross leverage methodology does not allow for offsets of hedging transactions and other risk mitigation strategies involving derivatives, such as hedging and duration management.

Disclosure of information in relation to leverage

The Company will disclose on its website at the same time as it makes its annual report and accounts available to investors or more frequently at its discretion, the following:

- any changes to the maximum level of leverage that the AIFM may employ on behalf of the Company;
- any changes to the right of reuse of collateral or any guarantee granted under the leveraging arrangements; and
- the total amount of leverage employed by the Company.

Investment approach and investment techniques

The Company's annual report, which is available from its website, www.patplc.co.uk, sets out the investment approach and techniques applied in managing the Company's portfolio.

As a closed-ended investment fund whose shares are admitted to the Official List under Chapter 15 of the Listing Rules, the Company is required to obtain the prior approval of the shareholders to any material change to its published investment policy. Accordingly, the Company will not make any material change to its published investment policy without the approval of its shareholders by ordinary resolution. The Company will announce any such change through a Regulatory Information Service. The Company's published investment policy is set out in the section entitled 'Investment policy' above.

Any change in investment strategy or investment policy which does not amount to a material change to the published investment policy may be made by the Company without shareholder approval.

In this regard, the Company, the Depositary and JPMCB have entered into a global custody agreement under which the Depositary has delegated custody of the Company's financial instruments to JPMCB. JPMCB has the authority to sub-delegate the custody of the Company's financial instruments provided that JPMCB must comply with the same requirements that would apply in the context of a delegation by the Depositary.

The Depositary has not entered into any contractual arrangement to discharge itself of liability in accordance with Article 21(13) and 21(14) of the AIFMD and, therefore, the Depositary's liability is not affected by the delegation of its safe-keeping function as outlined above. Shareholders will be notified of any changes with respect to the discharge by the Depositary of its liability in accordance with Articles 21(13) and 21(14) through a Regulatory News Service.

Fees of the Depositary

The annual fee payable to the Depositary is on a sliding scale based on the value of assets under management with the maximum fee being 0.015% of the net asset value of the Company.

Conflicts of interest that may arise from the delegation of functions by the AIFM

The Depositary, the AIFM and the Investment Manager may from time to time act as manager, administrator, custodian, alternative investment fund manager, investment manager or adviser or distributor in relation to, or be otherwise involved in, other funds or collective investment schemes which have similar investment objectives to those of the Company. It is, therefore, possible that any of them may, in the due course of their business, have potential conflicts of interests with the Company. Each will at all times have regard in such event to its obligations under the Company's articles of association and/or any agreements to which it is party or by which it is bound in relation to the Company and, in particular, but without limitation, to its obligations to act in the best interests of the shareholders when undertaking any investments where conflicts of interest may arise and they will each respectively endeavour to ensure that such conflicts are resolved fairly and, in particular, the Investment Manager has agreed to act in a manner which the Investment Manager in good faith considers fair and equitable in allocating investment opportunities to the Company.

There is no prohibition on dealing in assets of the Company by entities related to the Depositary, the AIFM or the Investment Manager provided that such transactions are carried out as if effected on normal commercial terms negotiated at arm's length and in the best interests of the shareholders. Permitted transactions are subject to (a) a certified valuation of a transaction by a person approved by the Depositary (or in the case of transactions involving the Depositary the Directors) as independent and competent; (b) the execution of transactions on best terms on organised investment exchanges under their rules and, (c) where (a) and (b) are not practical, execution on terms the Depositary (or in the case of transactions involving the Depositary the Directors) is satisfied conform to the principles of normal commercial terms negotiated at arm's length and in the best interests of the shareholders.

The subsidiary is valued at fair value by the Directors on the basis of all information available to them at the time of valuation.

The Company's AIFM acts as its "own valuer" and valuation is undertaken by the risk committee such that valuation is confirmed independently of the portfolio managers and is conducted with due skill, care and diligence. In so doing, Juniper Partners uses information provided by JP Morgan Europe Limited and other independent sources in order to verify the valuations. At least once each year Juniper Partners will undertake a full in-depth review of the value of the underlying assets of the Company. RISK FACTORS

The following risks are those considered by the Company and the AIFM to be the material risks arising from the Company's investing activities but they are not the only risks relating to the Company or its shares. There may also be additional risks that the Company and the AIFM do not currently consider to be material or which are not presently known to them. Before investing in shares, potential investors should consult their stockbroker, bank manager, solicitor, accountant or other financial adviser.

Credit and counterparty risk

Credit risk is the risk that an issuer or counterparty will be unable or unwilling to meet a commitment that it has entered into with the Company. The Company's principal financial assets are investments, bank balances, cash and other receivables, which represent the Company's exposure to credit risk in relation to financial assets. The Company is exposed to potential failure by counterparties to deliver securities for which the Company has paid and to pay for securities which the Company has delivered. Risks relating to unsettled transactions are considered by the Company to be small as a result of the relatively short settlement period involved and the credit quality of the brokers used. Substantially all of the assets of the Company other than cash deposits are held by the Custodian. Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Custodian might cause the Company's rights in respect of the securities held by the Custodian to be delayed or limited. The credit risk on liquid funds and derivative financial instruments is limited as the counterparties are banks with high credit ratings, rated A or higher, assigned by international credit rating agencies. Bankruptcy or insolvency of any such financial institution may limit or delay the Company's ability to access cash placed on deposit.

Market price risk

The fair value of equity and other financial securities held in the Company's portfolio fluctuates with changes in market prices. Prices are themselves affected by movements in currencies and interest rates and by other financial issues including the market perception of future risks.

Interest rate risk

Some of the Company's financial instruments are interest bearing. As such, the Company is exposed to interest rate risk due to fluctuations in the prevailing market rates.

Foreign currency risks

Some of the Company's investments are in overseas securities. The Company accounts for its activities and reports its results in pounds sterling. Where the Company does not hedge its currency exposure, the movement of exchange rates may have a favourable or unfavourable effect on the gains and losses experienced on investments which are made or realised in currencies other than pounds sterling.

Details of the Company's key risks are also set out in the Company's annual report and accounts, which may be accessed on the Company's website.

RISK MANAGEMENTRisk profile

The Company's investing activities expose it to various types of risk that are associated with the financial instruments and markets in which it invests. The most important types of financial risk to which the Company is exposed are those highlighted in the section entitled "Risk Factors" above: namely, market price risk, foreign currency risk, credit and counterparty risk and interest rate risk.

The AIFM assesses the sensitivity of the Company's portfolio to the most relevant risks to which the Company is or could be exposed on an ongoing basis.

The current risk profile of the Company will be disclosed periodically to investors by disclosure in the Company's annual report and accounts or more frequently at the AIFM's discretion.

Risk management systems

The Company's key risks are monitored by the AIFM on an ongoing basis, and by the Board and Investment Manager on a regular basis. The AIFM's investment review and monitoring process is used to identify and, where possible, reduce risk.

The risk management systems which the AIFM employs to manage the risks which are most relevant to the Company will be disclosed periodically to investors by disclosure in the Company's annual report and accounts or more frequently at the AIFM's discretion.

Liquidity risk management

The AIFM has a liquidity management policy in relation to the Company which is intended to ensure that the Company's investment portfolio maintains a level of liquidity which is appropriate to meet the Company's ongoing obligations.

This policy involves an assessment by the AIFM of the prices or values at which it expects to be able to liquidate its assets over varying hypothetical periods in varying market conditions, taking into account the sensitivity of particular assets to particular market risks and other relevant factors.

The liquidity management policy requires the AIFM to identify and monitor its investment in asset classes which are considered to be relatively illiquid. Illiquid assets of the Company are likely to include investments in new issues and less liquid quoted securities. The risk of the Company not having sufficient liquidity at any time is not considered by the Board to be significant, given the liquid nature of the portfolio of investments and the level of cash and cash equivalents ordinarily held.

The liquidity management policy is reviewed and updated, as required, on at least an annual basis.

Investors will be notified, by way of a disclosure on its website, in the event of any material changes being made to the liquidity management systems and procedures or where any new arrangements for managing the Company's liquidity are introduced.

The Company will periodically disclose to investors the percentage of the Company's assets which are subject to special arrangements arising from their illiquid nature. The Company will make this disclosure on its website at the same time as it makes its annual report and accounts available to investors or more frequently at its discretion.

Professional negligence liability risks

The AIFM covers potential professional liability risks resulting from those activities the AIFM carries out pursuant to the AIFMD, as transposed by the AIFMD Regulations, by holding additional capital on its balance sheet as required by article 14 of the AIFMD level 2 regulations (additional own funds).

The AIFM also complies with the qualitative requirements addressing professional liability risks in article 13 of the AIFMD level 2 regulation (qualitative requirements addressing professional liability risks).

Brokerage practices and use of dealing commission

The Company does not employ a prime broker.

The depositary agreement provides that neither the Depositary nor its delegates shall reuse the Company's investments without the prior consent of the Company or of the AIFM acting on behalf of the Company.

The AIFM has appointed the Investment Manager to conduct portfolio management services on behalf of the Company. An important part of their role is to select brokers with whom orders can be placed to execute investment decisions on behalf of the Company. The Investment Manager trades with brokers using execution-only commission rates. The Investment Manager pays for research services directly under separate agreements in accordance with its inducements and research payment policy.

SUSTAINABILITY-RELATED DISCLOSURES

The following disclosures relate to Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector known as the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR") and Regulation (EU) 2020/852 on the establishment of a framework to facilitate sustainable investment known as the Taxonomy Regulation (the "Taxonomy Regulation").

SFDR and the Taxonomy Regulation are not generally applicable to Juniper Partners, the Investment Manager or the Company as entities outside the European Union (the "EU"). However, given the Company is registered for marketing in the EU, certain product-level requirements under SFDR and the Taxonomy Regulation apply to the Company.

Integration of sustainability risks

As part of its investment decision-making process, the Investment Manager, in addition to its analysis of financial risks, carries out fundamental analysis of non-financial environmental, social or governance ("ESG") factors including sustainability risks. For these purposes the Investment Manager considers a sustainability risk to be a risk relating to an ESG event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or potential material negative impact on the value of the investment. The Investment Manager analyses sustainability risks to determine how such risks might materially influence the long-term returns (more than 5 years) from an investment. For a sustainability risk to have a material negative impact, the impact must be more than de minimis.

The Investment Manager also seeks to identify circumstances in which ESG factors may enhance the available returns from an investment.

The fundamental analysis of sustainability risks is part of the investment decision-making process and feeds into a holistic assessment of the investment case. In certain circumstances, the Investment Manager may choose not to invest, but the identification and assessment of sustainability risks does not in itself preclude investment. The Investment Manager conducts ongoing monitoring of investments, including sustainability risks. If the Investment Manager's perception of such a risk increases in relation to an investment, the Investment Manager may aim firstly to resolve the issue through engagement with management and/or exercising its voting rights and, failing that, may choose to divest.

The analysis of sustainability risks is the responsibility of the Investment Manager's investment team and is integrated within the research process. The Investment Manager performs internal ESG research and also uses external ESG research providers.

Information on how sustainability risks may impact returns on the Company's investments

Sustainability risk means an environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of an investment. Assessment of sustainability risks is complex and requires subjective judgements, which may be based on data which is difficult to obtain and incomplete, estimated, out of date or otherwise materially inaccurate. Even when identified, there can be no guarantee that the Investment Manager will correctly assess the impact of sustainability risks on the Company's investments. To the extent that a sustainability risk occurs, or occurs in a manner that is not anticipated by the Investment Manager, there may be a sudden, material negative impact on the value of an investment, its liquidity, and hence the returns of the Company.

In general, where a sustainability risk occurs, there may be a negative impact on, and possibly an entire loss of, its value. For a corporate, this may be because of damage to its reputation with a consequential fall in demand for its products or services, loss of key personnel, exclusion from potential business opportunities, increased costs of doing business and/or increased cost of capital. A corporate may also suffer the impact of fines and other regulatory sanctions. The time and resources of the corporate's management team may be diverted from furthering its business and be absorbed seeking to deal with the sustainability risk, including changes to business practices and dealing with investigations and litigation. Sustainability risks may also give rise to loss of assets and/or physical loss including damage to real estate and infrastructure. The utility and value of assets held by businesses to which the Company is exposed may also be adversely impacted by a sustainability risk.

Sectors, regions, businesses and technologies which are carbon-intensive, higher polluting or otherwise cause a material adverse impact on sustainability factors may suffer from a significant fall in demand and/or obsolescence, resulting in stranded assets the value of which is significantly reduced or entirely lost ahead of their anticipated useful life.

When investing in equity securities, sustainability risks may lead to an increase in the volatility of a security and/or decrease the liquidity of a security, which may affect the Company's ability to sell the relevant investment at what the Investment Manager considers a fair price.

Where a company does not take sustainability risks into account as part of its business strategy this can have a negative effect on the company's share price. Such risks, if not addressed, may have a negative impact on the value of the Company.

Where investing in debt securities, issuers may be exposed to sustainability risks which may adversely affect the creditworthiness of the issuer and therefore the value of its securities.

Adverse sustainability impacts

For the purposes of article 7(2) of SFDR, Juniper Partners does not consider the adverse impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors in relation to the Company as it is not involved in the investment decision-making process.

Environmentally Sustainable Economic Activities

For the purposes of article 7 of the Taxonomy Regulation, the investments underlying this financial product do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities within the meaning of the Taxonomy Regulation.
